

Error on WinNT machines “RAS not found”

This error occurs when attempting to run the Message Server program which manages the dial-up-networking connection to initiate and transmit e-mail messages on an NT machine. By default when the Windows NT Operating System is installed the Remote Access Service (RAS) facility which the Message Server uses to manage the dial-up-networking is NOT installed. To install RAS you must run the setup program on the NT installation CD (or from the Control Panel | Add/Remove Software), select Add/Remove Software | Windows NT Setup | Communications | Dial-Up Networking.
